

FXPRIMUS is seeking skilled, motivated and ambitious staff who are looking to build their career within the forex industry. We are a dynamic, growing firm headquartered in Limassol Cyprus, and we provide award-winning online trading solutions to clients all around the world. We are characterised by our safe trading environment and our strict ethical operational activities. Our staff enjoy an exciting working environment with frequent opportunities for professional growth combined with a competitive remuneration package and frequent company perks. If you are looking for a new challenge and want to join the ranks of a world class international brokerage, we would love to hear from you.

Position: DevOps Engineer

Department: IT

Duties & Responsibilities

- Manage deployments of mission critical systems.
- Configure and deploy servers.
- Manage and deploy micro services.
- Administration and support of the production environments.
- Provide functional and technical specifications for new software systems and deployments.
- Provide suggestions and solutions for new technologies and products that can be used by the Company.
- Implement best practices and standard operating procedures to ensure secure and reliable service delivery.

Qualifications

- Excellent Linux server administration skills.
- Experience in managing node.js apps and nosql/mongodb dockers.
- Experience with cloud technologies AWS/Google Cloud.
- Previous experience with CI/DevOps tools platforms (i.e. istio, Kubernetes, Docker, Jenkins).
- Good Git skills (comfortable preparing release branches etc).
- Knowledge of securing critical services and patching vulnerabilities.
- Experience/knowledge of server monitoring tools.
- Excellent written and verbal English language skills.
- Experience with Elastic will be considered an advantage.

To join FXPRIMUS kindly send your application to hr@fxprimus.com stating the position for which you are applying. Should you have any questions, contact the HR staff under +357 25 257 610.

